MetPlas Launches New Website

Natrona Heights, PA - On October 1, 2011 MetPlas went live with it's new, completey redesigned wesbite. The new site provides visitors with a user-friendly platform to explore the diverse capabilities that MetPlas has to offer. "The goal with this website is to encourage our customers to visit the site regularly for the latest MetPlas news and also to learn more about our diverse capabilities" said Kevin Streussnig, VP of Marketing and Sales at MetPlas. Kevin went on to explain "Occasionally our customers see us as a supplier of machined plastics only or a a supplier for waterjet cutting only. We have so many other capabilities to offer and we hope this website will bring those capabilities to light." You can visit the MetPlas website at www.MetPlas.com.
